ABORTIONS ARE PERFORMED
IN THE NETHERLANDS

During the Week of Life we seek to bring attention to the sad reality that often hides behind an abortion.

First for the mother, because abortion rarely stands on its own.

Mothers sometimes undergo an abortion because of pressure or coercion from partner or relatives. Other times they see no other option than abortion because of financial problems or a broken relationship. All too often they receive no information about the help and support that is available to them during and after their pregnancy.

But also for the child.

With every pregnancy a new life begins and a unique human being starts growing. At five weeks of pregnancy the heart is already beating. After eleven weeks all the organs are formed and the child only needs to grow. Abortion puts an end to all this. Young life, nipped in the bud.

We want to see more effort put into working with mothers towards solutions for both mother and child.

Sometimes this seems to be a taboo subject, as if people aren't allowed to talk about it. So let's start doing just that!
